

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

This (Saturday) noon will bring the opening of the Labor day vacation, extending through until next Tuesday morning. Advantages will be taken of this holiday period for out of town trips by many of Danielson's people. Shore resorts seem to hold the greatest appeal. The exodus will begin this afternoon and will continue during Sunday.

Charles Matheson, 76, for many years a resident on the West Side, is dead at his home, after a long illness. His death followed closely after that of his wife, who died in May of this year. Mr. Matheson was a native of Woonsocket, but had lived in this town a great many years and for a long time in the employ of the Quinebaug company. He leaves a large family of children.

An unfortunate accident Friday morning was that in which Mrs. James Garfield, of School street, fell and broke her leg as she was coming down the steps at her home on School street while on her way to attend service at St. James' church. A physician was called and gave the injured woman attention before she was taken to the Day Kimball hospital at Putnam.

When the Coronets of Worcester face Manager Bill Martin's team in Sunday's big baseball event, two changes will be noted in the Danielson lineup. Faber and Kirby will be missing. It is understood that Faber, who is a great little player, has an offer of money elsewhere, so is going after it. He will be replaced by a fast infielder, Seen, of Worcester. Kirby will be out of the game on account of a holiday visit he is to make with relatives in Philadelphia.

Manager Martin's battery will be Reiger and Phillips. This pair made a hit with the fans last Sunday. Roy Rock is quoted as saying that Reiger is one of the hardest pitchers to a hit with men no bases that he had seen.

Reiger has had a world of experience and never offers a better a good ball when he can make him swing at a bad one. Phillips' throwing and all around pep makes him a threat.

Hart, a splendid fielder, will be at third and the outfield will remain unchanged. Arrigan comes here from Providence with a great reputation as a hitter. Johnny Reiger, brother of Fred, and former Eastern leaguer, relief pitcher last week, will be here again Sunday.

Manager Martin is making an effort to have the Wauregan band as a special attraction for the second game of the series with Putnam, September 17.

South Killingly's annual Old Home day observance Labor Day, will be one of the principal events in the town of Killingly on the holiday. Rev. W. B. Beard of New York, a son of a beloved former pastor of the First Congregational church at South Killingly, is to be the principal speaker. Other addresses will be made by Rev. E. P. Ayer of Montville and Rev. Mr. Wood of Lakewood, R. I.

Music during the day will be by the East Killingly band, from whence will also come King George Jacques, purveyor of shore dinners extraordinary, to serve to all a plethora of good things.

Special significance attaches to South Killingly's Old Home day observance this year because it happens that that community may now be reached over a splendid new state highway, open to South Killingly from Danielson only a few weeks ago. The completion of this road marking the end of what might be considered its period of semi-isolation in this day of hard surfaced roads and putting it onto what is going to be one of the most traveled trunk lines in southern

New England—the most direct route between Hartford and Providence.

There will be interest of a special nature on Labor day, too, in the fact that South Killingly's new community house is nearing completion.

So South Killingly seems due for a big Old Home day Monday.

An announcement that will be received here with widespread regret pertains to the death a few days since at Hantsford, Me., of William S. Jackson, husband of Mrs. Florence Potter Jackson, formerly of Danielson, and war hero here of Rev. and Mrs. James H. Goheen. Particularly sad is the fact that Mr. Jackson's death occurred on the first anniversary of his wedding. He had been in failing health for several months.

Following is the roster of the teachers of the public schools of Killingly for the school year that will open Tuesday morning next:

High school—Ernest R. Warren, Robert G. Bruce, Miss Marion D. Chollar, Miss Louise W. Danielson, Miss Adah A. Danielson, Miss Roberta A. Horton, Miss Bertha E. Stevens, Mrs. Flora E. Shippee.

Grammar—Elliott F. Knight, Mrs. Clara M. Williams, Miss Grace M. Stanton, Miss Myrtle E. Marland, Miss Elizabeth R. Woodworth, Miss Anna M. Hammett, Miss Edith L. Fuller, Miss Esther C. Holley.

Goodyear—Herbert D. Hoyt, Miss A. Laura Chase, Miss C. Ella Day, Miss Ruth A. Pike, Miss Agnes W. Jacobs, Dayville—Miss Winifred E. Duffee, Miss Marion E. Green, Miss Maude D. Cannon, Mrs. Lulu W. Bailey.

Add to the delight of your holiday period—order Daggett's Real Ice Cream, Mooncup—day.

Following a court of inquiry arranged for Friday by Prosecuting Attorney Arthur G. Bill and the development of charges against Henry Adams of Dayville by his 16 years old daughter, Adams was ordered arrested and brought before the town court to answer to a serious charge.

He denied absolutely the charge made against him by his daughter, but was held for a hearing next Tuesday morning. In default of $1,000 bail he was committed to the county jail at Brooklyn.

Adams makes his home with his wife and three children, his accuser being the eldest of the three.

Rev. J. C. Matheson, pastor of the Sacred Heart church at Wauregan, has arranged the usual Labor day lawn tea and field day for the members of his parish. Father Matheson said Friday afternoon that his plans for this year's events includes two baseball games to be played during the day, one contest to be between a boys' team of Tataville and a boys' team of Wauregan, the other between teams representing Putnam and Wauregan. A long list of athletic events and diversions has been arranged and a big dinner is to be served.

No cars bearing "O" registrations will be allowed to compete for the Brooklyn fair traffic excepting as parties may hire one of these cars to take them over to the exhibition grounds. It so happens that Brooklyn is on an established jitney route and competition of cars bearing "O" registrations is automatically eliminated insofar as carrying passengers at individual fairs is concerned. One person may of course hire an "O" car to go to the fair, pay for it and fill it to capacity with his relatives or friends, but the "O" cars will not be permitted to pick up a passenger here and there until the capacity of the car is reached and then charge each passenger as much for the trip.

Miss Beatrice Geer will leave Sunday to spend a week with friends in Springfield.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Perry Fulton, of Lynn, Mass., are guests for the holiday period of Mrs. George Stone of Academy street.

John B. Bassett left Friday evening to spend the time until Monday evening at Narragansett Pier, where Mrs. Bassett and their son, Earl, have been for the past two weeks.

Mrs. James R. Walsh and Miss Mary Walsh are spending the holiday season with Frank Garfield at Bridgeport.

Charles Z. Carter will leave today for Pawtucket to remain until after the holidays.

As the result of a fall from a station on which he was working as a painter for a local contractor, Frederick Short has a broken ankle and is a patient at the Day Kimball hospital in Putnam.

Mrs. James Barnett and son, Herbert J. Barnett are to leave today (Saturday) for Detroit for a stay of indefinite length.

Miss Blanche Gauthier will be at Groton Long Point for the Labor Day period. Miss Mary Taylor visited friends in Webster Friday.

Danielson Elks who were at Williamstown for the fair of the lodge of the fraternity in that city declared Friday that they had a splendid time.

Mr. and Mrs. Romeo Gauthier have been recent visitors in Providence.

Selection James Bacon of Goodyear, a republican member of the Killingly board, will be a candidate for re-election.

Miss Alice Morrisette has returned to her home near Wauregan, after studying during the summer at Columbia university.

Construction of the frame work for a new bungalow for William J. Root is under way at his property on Broad street.

PUTNAM

Leaving her husband in 1914, in company with the hired man, taking with her their joint savings of $800, returning when all was forgotten at the end of eight months only to leave again with a second hired man a short time later, after selling her husband's automobile, worth $800, for $500, and never again coming back to her Canterbury home, were the allegations made by Ray Lyman Moffitt of Canterbury against his wife Emma Jane Moffitt, of Old Mystic.

In his petition for a divorce, heard at this week's session of the superior court, George E. Hinman, Judge, at Putnam, Friday morning.

Lyman testified that he had lived in Canterbury all his life. He was married February 17, 1915, and a short time afterward he and his wife went to work for the town, at the town farm. Subsequently he got work cutting timber. This was at Jewett City. He came home one night and found his wife gone and the hired man had likewise disappeared. In about eight months his wife wrote and asked if he could return. He supposed her and took her back. Asked if his wife took any money with her Moffitt said that she drew their joint savings amounting to $800, from the bank.

After a year or so witnesses said he returned home again and found that his wife had taken her clothing and gone away. A Canadian whom he employed was also about. He later found that his wife had sold his automobile for $500. She wrote him again to be taken back but this time he returned her letter. He had not heard from her since, but had seen her once when he and she signed a deed to transfer a piece of property that they owned jointly.

The neighbors of the petitioner testified that they were in a position to know whether husband and wife had lived together in the past three years and said they had not. The judge took the papers until a certain affidavit is furnished concerning notice of the proceeding being given Mrs. Moffitt.

Although the short calendar list was a somewhat lengthy one little business developed. Three jury cases were assigned for the week after next and one court case was assigned for September 19th.

The jurors for the terms were then drawn as follows:

Windham—Rodrick Young, George A. Bartlett.

Ashford—Edward A. Reynolds, Brooklyn—Warren Root.

Canterbury—Frank Nelson, Chaplin—Daniel Cunningham.

Eastford—Charles Clarke, Hampton—F. J. Jones.

Killingly—Paul Dubois, Arnold H. Batty.

Plainfield—Howard E. Main, Albert E. Kennedy, Everett S. Chapman.

Pomfret—W. H. Gallup, C. L. Ransom.

Cootland—Leander Hawkins, Sterling—George A. Gallup.

Thompson—E. L. Curtis, Edward N. Rawson, David Nichols.

Woodstock—S. H. Peckham, Charles Harrington.

Labor Day will be a big day at the Putnam Country Club with interest centering around golf. There will be a flag contest in which the sixteen lowest will qualify for the Governor's Cup.

This yearly event is perhaps the most interesting of any as it really settles the year's championship of the club. There will be other special features and refreshments will be served during the day.

Frank H. Cordier has been attending the Art and Crafts exhibition in Boston, especially interesting to printers.

Mrs. Anna Mann Wade of Boston, a daughter of the late Mrs. T. P. Bolham, has recently been the guest of friends in Putnam.

Mr. and Mrs. John Regis, of Franklin street, Danielson, have sent out invitations for the wedding of their daughter, Miss Fanny Regis, and Arthur Brodew of Putnam, at St. Mary's church, Danielson, Monday morning, September 11th, at seven o'clock.

While passing through Johnston, R. I., this side of Canterbury, while on his way to Providence, Thursday evening about five o'clock, Dewey Tetrault, of Putnam, a truck driver for Fred Gagnan of this city, struck and instantly

The Sunday school of the M. E. church plunked at Riverside park and Ocean Beach Tuesday, spending some time at either place. The members were conveyed to and from the beaches by bus.

The day was very enjoyable with the sports afforded, and some of the children enjoyed bathing at both places.

The Hartford council of Girl Scouts at Brower Crossing broke camp Monday, the 28th, after an encampment of two months. Eighty girls have been in camp during the season, at different periods, making it a very successful one, and plans were laid for the return of the camp next year.

Those attending the republican caucus from the ferry and vicinity at Ledyard Tuesday afternoon, were Mrs. Walter M. Buckingham, Miss Alice Satterlee, Mrs. Charles B. Hoyt, Miss Caroline B. Freeman, Henry W. Ruribatt, R. Irving Hurlbutt, J. Edmund Norman, Billings F. S. Crandall and James A. Goodard.
